

Project InVision announces the formation of Project InVision Europe

London-based firm will deliver cloud-based project management solutions to the European market

LONDON, England, UK and SAN FRANCISCO BAY AREA, California, US – November 16, 2010

Project InVision International, a leading cloud-based software provider, today announced the formation of Project InVision Europe, a London-based firm that will introduce the Project InVision software platform to the European market.

Project InVision provides project management office (PMO) solutions to automate repeatable project delivery, improve resource utilization, and promote visibility and collaboration. Project InVision's cloud-based solutions consistently achieve the industry's fastest deployment times, enabling customers to focus on strategic initiatives rather than laboring over the implementation of project management systems.

"There is strong demand throughout Europe for uncomplicated cloud-based solutions that are quick to implement. Our customers want to be up and running within hours, not weeks or months," said Stein Onsrud, Chairman of Project InVision Europe. "Project InVision has had a strong presence in the U.S. for over 20 years; we are pleased to become their exclusive European distributor."

"We are excited to announce the formation of Project InVision Europe," said Andy Shotz, President of Project InVision International. "This represents our continued commitment to provide worldwide support and distribution for our cloud-based software platform"

About Project InVision Europe

Project InVision Europe, headquartered in London, England, UK, is the exclusive distributor of the Project InVision cloud-based software platform in Europe. The firm oversees a network of distribution partners throughout Europe that provide value added services, consulting, local support, sales and distribution. Visit www.piieurope.com or call +44 20 3286 1140 for more information.

About Project InVision International

Project InVision International is a leading provider of cloud-based project management office solutions to professional services firms and service delivery organizations, assisting them to manage and collaborate on the delivery of initiatives. Our Project InVision software enables service firms to automate a consistent and repeatable delivery process to increase efficiency, improve visibility, and better utilize resources. Project InVision has aligned with the industry's foremost service delivery firms, including Deloitte, AT&T, TELUS, and has implemented solutions for more than 500 project intensive businesses. Founded in 1991, the company is privately held and headquartered in the San Francisco Bay Area. Visit www.projectinvision.com or call 415-898-7300 for more information.

Contacts

Herbert Gottlieb
Project InVision Europe
+44 20 3286 1140
herb@piieurope.com

Matthew B. Meblin
Project InVision International
415-209-1101
mmeblin@projectinvision.com